Unleashing the Book Inside You

Unleash the Book Inside Correspondence Course

- Do you want to know the skills of being an inspiring author?
- Do you want to know the key steps to writing and publishing a book?
- Do you want to know how to eliminate and prevent writer's block?
- Do you want to know how to tap into the unlimited resource of your unconscious mind, and the 'minds' beyond?
- Do you want to know the easiest ways to get published?
- Do you want to know how to use a book to really promote you and your business?

If you can't get to one of our workshops, you can take the workshop by correspondence with a mixture of personal mentoring and self-study. You can take the course anywhere in the world over Skype and with desktop sharing. You don't need any special technology, just a phone line, a computer and ideally a broadband connection - and an open mind.

The course includes:

- Personal fact finding and briefing session [1 hour typically]
- All workshop materials and Mind Map templates with free 30 day download of Mind Mapping software with tutorials
- Email support for up to 30 days and access to online support forum
- Higher Self Communication Guided MP3 Meditation
- Review of course exercises [2 x 30 minutes or 1 x 1 hour] including:
 - additional channelling of inspiration and ideas e.g. book title, opening lines etc
 - taking your concept up to the next level
 - grounding your concept so it gets delivered
 - ensuring you have created an achievable writing plan

Here's what one client said about the course:

"There is no other way to write a book. Tom injects a certain magic to the whole process. His insights, intuition and inspiration are invaluable - from thinking I couldn't write a book to suddenly finding the words flowing was fantastic.

Tom has an amazing way of seeing the things that you don't see during the writing process, which helps unblock those 'writers block' moments. He mentors you in assembling your material in the best way possible, leading to the addition of dimensions that you had not even thought of yet. I now have restored belief in my writing ability and creativity."

Unleashing the Book Inside You

About Tom Evans - The BookWright

Tom is an author and poet who mentors other authors how to unleash the books inside themselves.

He has published an inspiring trilogy of meditative poetic stories called 100 Years of Ermintrude and is currently finishing a new novel which explores cutting-edge thinking into consciousness, evolution and cosmology.

In addition to his innate talent as a creative writer, his 30 year career in the broadcasting and Internet industries has given him considerable commercial acumen and an understanding of advanced technologies.

He has a knack for making these simple to understand, and empowering for others. He is passionate about convergence which is why his first book came out as an ebook, audio & video for iPod and a printed book pretty much at the same time. One of his next books is being first "published" as a blog.

Via a set of simple, elegant and thought provoking techniques, Tom can transform your world view forever and help unleash the creativity inside you.

Every budding author should contact him to help them tune in to their intuition and sharpen their vision. He works with authors collectively or on a 1-2-1 basis anywhere in the world.
